DECLARES SHE IS THE OWNER OF VALUABLE LAND.

N action to quiet title was filed in actual expenses for the past two years with a gloomy outlook for the present the Third district court yesterday, which has for its object the request, the board has also reached the conclusion that the assessment of breaking of the will of the late Bishop A. H. Raleigh. The plaintiff in the action is Emily P. Raleigh, one of the widows of Bishop Raleigh, and the defendants are Caroline C. R. Wells, Jacob T. Raleigh, L. West, Ernest E. Romney, William Asper et al., executors of the estate of Bishop Raleigh, and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Mrs. Raleigh alleges in her complaint that she is the owner in fee, in the possession, and entitled to the possession of lot 1. block 114, plat A. and asks that her title be quieted as against the defendants. The property in question is situated on the corner of First West and Second North streets, and is very valuable.

It is here that Mrs. Raleigh has lived continuously for forty-four years and

When the bishop died, howmembers of his family, and especially Mrs. Emily P. Raleigh, were surprised to learn that he had willed the old homestead to the Mormon church, subject to the life interest of a daughter and son. Since then the matter has been discussed in all of its various phases at different times, but the presnt action is the first decisive step that has been taken.

In the probate division of the court yesterday the action of the executors in setting the property aside to the church, under the terms of the will, was confirmed, as well as their action in setting aside to Mrs. Raleigh anin setting aside to Mrs. Raleigh another piece of property which was willed to her by Bishop Raleigh.

Since the death of Bishop Raleigh, the son and daughter have disposed with relations of ideas, even though they be deep and abstract, and is often the interest in the property.

liamson Estate Case. Judge Hall rendered a decision yesterday in the contest over the estate of Dr. Jonathan M. Williamson, de-ceased. Dr. Williamson died many years ago, and left surviving him, in addition to other heirs, his wife, Sarah Carmichael Williamson, the Utah poetess, who, after years of insanity, died about eighteen months ago. The expenses of garing for Mrs. Williamson have used up practically all of the estate, and Boyd Park, executor, applied some months ago for leave to sell the remaining piece of property for the purpose of discharging the indebted-Fillmore, June 18.—Elaborate preparations having been made by the various committees duly chosen, the old people of Fillmore met in the old historic state house, having been conveyed there in easy conveyances, furnished by a special committee. There were about 100 present, ranging in age from 60 to SI years. It was a most enjoyable party. The hall was very artistically and beautifully decorated with bunting phoneer colors, flowers, roses and evergreen foliage. This work was ably done by a committee under the direction of Professor Frank Day. The tables were set with many varieties of beautiful dishes and were decorated with flowers, roses and various grasses. The meal which the venerable guests partook of was delicate, rich and fuscious. The old people were arranged at the tables according to age, the ages being announced and the persons escorted to their places by persons previously detailed.

When they are dissected and the contents of their stomachs examined the milk is found to be curdled and the stomach always contains some dirt. The disease made its appearance some two years ago.

The lamb crop is reported as light from most of the sheep herds of Sevier county. Paul Bentler of this place has the heaviest crop—80 per cent—yet reported. The Watts herd from Kanosh got considerably less than 50 per cent, as also the herds of Hendrickson Bros.
